

International Olympic Academy & Center for Hellenic Studies, Harvard University
Sports, Society, and Culture”

“After the Agon: Olympic Memory in Ancient and Modern Athletics”

Sixth International Scholars’ Symposium

July 9 – July 13, 2017

Ancient Olympia, Greece

The International Olympic Academy (IOA), in cooperation with Harvard University’s Center for Hellenic Studies (CHS), is organizing the Sixth International Scholars’ Symposium on “Sports, Society and Culture” in Ancient Olympia, on July 9-13, 2017. As in the past years, the Symposium will host scholars from around the world and bring together more than a hundred students and professors from Universities in Greece and abroad.

Topic

Building on some of the themes that were developed in the previous years, the specific topic of the 2017 Symposium is “After the Agon: Olympic Memory in Ancient and Modern Athletics.” As part of the international scholarly discourse on sports, society and politics, the 2017 meeting of the IOA/CHS Symposium examines the significance of memory in post-agonistic formations of identity for athletes and their states. By exploring the dynamics of Olympic commemoration, recollection, and emulation, this year's conference brings to Olympia an academic gathering designed to shed new light on the dialogue between the ancient and modern Olympics.

Structure

Rather than placing emphasis on lectures, the Symposium will be based on innovative educational methods such as blended learning and student workshops. Students will have access to a set of core readings and presentation abstracts in advance of the Symposium to better prepare for it. Presentations will be short, and followed by workshops, during which the students will have the opportunity to discuss the readings and reflect on the themes of the presentations in groups.

Faculty

This year’s Symposium faculty will include Gregory Nagy (Harvard University and CHS Harvard), Stamatia Dova (Hellenic College and CHS Harvard), Maša Culumovic (Brandeis University), Nigel Spivey (Cambridge University), Sofie Remijnsen (University of Amsterdam), Sebastian Scharff (CHS Harvard), Efimia Karakantza (University of Patras), Heather Reid (Morningside College) and Peter Miller (University of Winnipeg).

Participants

The Symposium is addressed only to undergraduate students who are in their junior year of studies (3rd year and above), as well as postgraduate students (Masters and PhD students).

Priority will be given to first-time participants.

Participation and Logistics

The International Olympic Academy will facilitate, by bus, the transportation of the participants from Athens to Olympia on Saturday, July 9 and from Olympia to Athens on Wednesday, July 13.

Accommodation (double room) and meals (Breakfast, Lunch) on the IOA premises will also be offered by the International Olympic Academy. The IOA and the CHS do not cover airfare and other incidental expenses associated with the presence and participation in the symposium, beyond those described above.

This is a non-fee based event, and the participants will be given certificates of attendance during the closing ceremony of the Symposium.

Online Application and Contact Information

The application will open on Wednesday, March 1, 2017.

The deadline for all submissions is Sunday, 23rd April, 2017 Midnight (Eastern European Summer Time).

Once you have completed your application, the organizers of the Symposium may contact your referees by Friday, May 5, 2017.

The final decision about the participants will be made by May 26. The selected participants will receive acceptance messages via email.

For more information and the online application please visit the Symposium's website (<http://chs.harvard.edu/CHS/article/display/6533>) and/or contact:

IOA Academic Programs Coordinator

Mr. Panagiotis Trikaliotis

Email: p.trikaliotis@ioa.org.gr

Phone: 210 6878810 and/or

CHS Content Editor and Programs Assistant

Ms. Christina Lafi

Email: clafi@chs.harvard.edu

Phone: 27520 47030